

A Trek in the Himalaya - Gosia Kiosk

This travelog will take the audience to the Everest region of the Himalaya in Nepal. Trekking from village to village, one is immersed in the beautiful and dramatic scenery, and sees the life of Sherpas, including their religion of Tibetan Buddhism. The slide show will illustrate a two week trek in March 2024, starting at living villages with ancient monasteries and going up to 18,000 foot high passes with breathtaking views of many of the highest peaks in the world.

Gosia Klosek came to the US from Poland for graduate school. Over the years she had a successful career in academia and later in the Federal government. She retired from the National Institutes of Health, so it was destined for her to join the NIH Camera Club. Now without professional responsibilities, she devotes her time to her passion for photography and travel with her husband.